NOTE: Although the 2011 – 2013 data on the following pages describes Exception Code B6 as “OCONUS flight time exceeds 14 hours”, FDIC Travel Regulations require that OCONUS flights have an actual in-flight duration (excluding time spent on the ground for connections, refueling, picking up passengers, etc.) in excess of 10 hours to qualify for premium class accommodations. This policy differs from the 14-hour total travel time rule outlined in the Federal Travel Regulations (which do not apply to the FDIC). Since the only time-related exception code contained in the GSA reporting system is “B6: OCONUS flight time exceeds 14 hours”, GSA has directed the FDIC to use this exception code to categorize premium class flights that have an in-flight time in excess of 10 hours.

NOTE: Although the 2011 – 2013 data on the preceding pages describes Exception Code B6 as “OCONUS flight time exceeds 14 hours”, FDIC Travel Regulations require that OCONUS flights have an actual in-flight duration (excluding time spent on the ground for connections, refueling, picking up passengers, etc.) in excess of 10 hours to qualify for premium class accommodations. This policy differs from the 14-hour total travel time rule outlined in the Federal Travel Regulations (which do not apply to the FDIC). Since the only time-related exception code contained in the GSA reporting system is “B6: OCONUS flight time exceeds 14 hours”, GSA has directed the FDIC to use this exception code to categorize premium class flights that have an in-flight time in excess of 10 hours.
